A GEORGIA INCIDENT.

Service a Warrant on Lost Mountain—A

Barber Took Job.

From Joel Chandler Harris' humorous and dramatic story, "Trouble on Lost Mountain," in the Century, we take this characteristic incident of mountain life in Northern Georgia:

"On one occasion shortly after the war,

Abe had gone to a little country town on business, and had been vexed into laying rough hands on one of the prominent citizens who was a trifle under the influence of liquor. A warrant was issued, and Dave McQuinn, the sheriff of the county, a stumpy little man, whose boldness and prudence made him the terror of criminals, was sent to serve it. Abe, who was at the lookout for some such visitation, saw him coming, and prepared himself. He stood in the doorway, with his rifle slung carelessly across his left arm.

"Hold on there, Dave!" he cried, as the latter came up. The sheriff, knowing his man, halted.

"I hate to fling away my manners,

Dave, but folks is gittin' to be mighty funny these days. A man's obliged to do his best for his fore he kin find out their which-ways. Dave, what sort of a dock-

you got ag'in me?"

"I got a warrant, Abe," said the sheriff, pleasantly.

"Well, Dave, hit won't fetch me, said Abe.

"O, yes! said the sheriff. 'Yes it will, Abe. I bin a-shin' these kind or fellers a mighty long time, an' they fetches a warmer welcome."

"Now, I'll tell you what, Dave," said Abe, putting his rifle, "I got a doekment here that'll fetch you a blame sight quicker'n your doekment'll fetch me. I tell you right now, plain an' flat, I ain't ag-ine to be drap around in slappers in jail."

"The sheriff leaned earnestly against the rail fence in the attitude of a man who is willing to argue an interesting question.

"Well, I tell you how I feel about it,

Abe," said the sheriff, speaking very slowly. "You kin shoot me, but you can't shoot the law. Bang away at me, an' I'll be right back at you. This yer one what I'm already get-don't amount to shucks, so you better fling on your coat, saddle your horse, an' go right along with me this ez neighborly ez you please."

"Dave," said Abe, "if you come in at that gate you or a goner."

"Well, Abe," the sheriff replied, "I lowed you to shoot, I know what your natur on these hills is, an' so I then axed some or the boys to come along.

They hain't got no mo' idea what I come for'n the man in the moon; yit they'll make a mighty good posse.

Tooby shore, a great big man like you ain't afraid for fear a little bit or law."

"Abe, Hightower hesitated a moment and then went into the house. In a few minutes he issued forth and went out to the gate where the sheriff was.

The faces of the two men were a study.

Neither betrayed any emotion nor alluded to the warrant. The sheriff asked after the 'trap,' and Abe told him it was 'middle' past, and asked him to go into the house and make himself at home until the horse could be saddled.

After a while the two rode away. Once during the ride Abe said:

"I'm mighty glad it wa'n't that feller who run ag'in you last fall,

Dave."

"Why?" asked the sheriff.

"Because I'd plugged him, certain an' shore," said Abe.

"Well," said the sheriff, laughing,

"I wish I might have had about that time that the feller feller had got

'lected.'"

UNPRETENTIOUS.

The Man With President Lincoln

Adapted Himself to Circumstances.

President Lincoln would have been very fond of Mark Twain, that hero of Dickens was "always jolly under difficulties." There was nothing pretentious about the President, and he easily adapted himself to circumstances.

Just before the close of the war he ran away from the politicians and office-seekers of Washington, went

KING LUDWIG.

How the Bavarian Monarch Endured His Costly Musical Tastes.

King Ludwig of Bavaria is a connoissur in all things musical. He has been identified with Wagnerian music, and nobody ever dreamed that he would take stock in any other. When, therefore, a special royal performance of

"The Trumper of Sackingen" was announced, the friends of Richard

Wagner felt sure that the opera could not be a success. The special performance of his royal Majesty of Bavaria are famous the world over. Nobody but the King himself attended them, not even a valet. The Bavarians are a loyal nation. They love their eccentric King, and there is no need for the special attendance of soldiers when he goes to a place of amusement.

On the evening of the special royal performance of "The Trumper," Herr Perfall, the director, could not believe his eyes. Ludwig seemed to enjoy the overture immensely. He nodded his royal head just as he used to do when there was a premiere of his friend, Richard Wagner. The report that his Majesty was pleased with the music spread behind the scenes and down to the dressing-rooms, and everybody was delighted with the King kept up the expression of pleasure, and when Werner sang his first melodious song he gave the signal for the encore. This new and rare sign of royal approval made the artists even more ambitious than before. Everybody did his best, and the splendid opera had most perfect results. Margaretta's pretty song called for a bravo from the King. The Baron, the Burgomaster and Werner especially received the compliments of the King for their efforts. After the catching cornet solo behind the scenes in the second act his Majesty ordered

Director von Perfall to the box and expressed his delight. Werner's splendid and touching song, the finale of the second act—"God Be With Thee," had to be repeated twice at the special request of his Majesty, and when the performance closed the artists had the pleasure of seeing the King forward in his box and applaud their efforts vigorously. On the same evening Ludwig ordered a second special performance of the opera and presented the composer and the artists with generous presents to express approval of their united efforts. —N. Y.

THE PAMIR.

An Almost Unknown Asiatic Region and Its Inhabitants.

At the last general meeting of the Russian Geographical Society, M.

Groom Grimaldo gave a very interesting account of the geographical features of the Pamir region, which he had recently visited. His narrative included the state of its flora, its zoological resources and the material condition of its inhabitants. The speaker began with a minute description of the mountains, the enormous glaciers, the mountain courses, the trade routes and the geological condition of the country, as well as the plants and animals, which,

with few exceptions, are the same as would be found in Europe. But we are told in the Russian account of the proceedings that what most interested the audience was the lecturer's description of the life of the Kara Kirghiz and Tajiks, nomadic races inhabiting the Pamir. M. Groom Grimaldo gave a graphic account of their existence, condemned to seek shelter in their tents during a long winter, and seeming to emerge from a state of lethargy at the first beams of a spring sun, when they come forth to graze their herds of children. They celebrate their return to active life with a pastoral feast. As a general rule the men are light-hearted, but ignorant of the

SOCIALITIES.

Capt. E. R. Cook is better but still very ill.

Mr. J. W. Fletcher left Monday night for Douglas, Ill.

Mr. J. S. Hanberry, of Bremen, Ky., was in the city this week.

Miss Jennie Glass, of Owensboro, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Grinter, of Cadiz, were in the city Wednesday.

Mr. M. C. Davis is reported getting out of danger. He had a close call.

Mr. M. Lipstone is on his regular spring trip East to replenish his stock.

Mrs. H. H. Bryant, of Bellevue, is spending the week with Mrs. E. G. Callis.

Dr. G. W. Rives, of Stuart's District, was in the city several days last week.

Mr. Wm. Welsh, of Bremen, Muhlenberg Co., a half-brother to Dr. D. J. Gish, is in the city on a visit.

Mr. Geo. A. Terry has returned to Cadiz to accept a position in one of the mercantile establishments.

Mrs. Yates, of Clarksville, mother of Dr. Tandy Yates, visited friends in the city this week and returned home yesterday.

Miss Florence Callison and Mrs. M. E. Gray, of Point Arena, Cal., and Mrs. P. H. Cunningham, of Henderson, Ky., are visiting the family of their brother, Judge W. P. Winfree.

Among the gentlemen attracted to the city by the committee meeting Wednesday were Messrs. J. C. Gilbert, of Paducah; T. J. Nunn, of Marion; J. E. DuBois, of Bowling Green; Henry George, of Wingo; A. T. Dudley, S. A. Young and F. B. Sugg, of Henderson; Jno. T. Scott and J. F. Dompney, of Madisonville; W. F. Gray, of Smithland; W. F. Browder, Judge J. H. Bowden and M. B. Bowden, of Russellville; R. W. Roach, of Trigg and Judge C. Bennett, of Livingston county.

Death of Dr. Wheeler.

Dr. James Wheeler who has been in failing health for some time, died at his home five miles from the city, on the Clarksville pike, at an early hour Tuesday morning. Dr. Wheeler was born in Middlesex, England, April 11, 1811, and was consequently nearly 75 years of age. He graduated from Columbia College, S. C., and in 1812 moved to Kentucky, having married Miss Lizzie Watkins, of Virginia. He practiced medicine with great success until after the late war when he began to devote his attention to farming, since which time he has been one of the leading planters of the county. Dr. Wheeler raised eleven children. Three sons—James, John and Joel—are dead. Two sons and six daughters survive, all of whom were at his bedside when the spark of life went out. They are Dr. W. G. Wheeler, of this city; Mrs. Chas. K. Wheeler, of Paducah; Mrs. Jas. Campbell and Mrs. Wm. Bradshaw, of Paducah; Dr. Drane, of Clarksville; Mrs. Jesse Hodge, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Chas. Morris, of Evansville, Ind.; and Miss Emma Wheeler.

His funeral was preached at Grace Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. J. W. Venable. He had been for years one of the main pillars of the church and his death will leave a vacancy in the membership that will be hard to fill. Dr. Wheeler was a gentleman in every sense of the word. He was a man of brilliant and broad intellect and his opinions were expressed with a fluency and earnestness that carried conviction with them. He was the very soul of hospitality, as all who ever crossed his threshold can testify. A good, a kind and a noble man has fallen. His remains were interred in the City Cemetery.

Excursion to Florida.

There will be two excursion trains from Hopkinsville to Florida on April 1st. The following are the prices of round trip tickets:

To Pensacola and return.....$10.80
 To Jacksonville and return..... 14.55
 To Ocala and return..... 16.30
 To Sanford and return..... 17.05
 To Leesburg and return..... 17.05

These prices are so low that any person wanting to visit the Southern climate can afford to do so. After getting to Florida you can purchase tickets to any part of the State at the same rate per mile. Tickets will be good to return until May 1st, giving ample time to all. The rates are lower than ever offered, and are not liable to be so cheap again. You can have sleeping car berths reserved by addressing J. H. Miliken or C. P. Atmore, Louisville.

HERE AND THERE.

W. J. Graham agent for the National Fertilizer, office at Wright's store.

The assets of the Hopkinsville Building and Loan Association now amount to $60,000.

Car load of National Corn Grower has just been received by W. J. Graham.

All three of the protracted meetings are still going on and will continue for several days longer.

Mr. M. E. Ham, of Paducah, the Fish King, is in the city with 500 lbs. fresh fish, which he is offering at very low figures.

Three members of Co. D.—Logan Feland, Walter Campbell and Mat Mitchell—returned from Greenwood Wednesday.

Two young ladies joined the Baptist church Wednesday evening. They were students of Bethel Female College.

Miss Alice Hayes' stock of millinery this spring will be more complete than ever before, and she expects to suit all her customers in prices and goods.

Bill Woods, col., attempted to break into the house of his divorced wife at Mr. Newton Payne's the other night and was tried before Esq. Anderson and fined $10 yesterday.

"Horse Shoe Brand" Corn Grower will produce more bushels of good corn to the acre than any other brand on the market. It makes 90 bushels per acre.

A lengthy call upon Mr. W. H. Merritt to become a candidate for Magistrate in this district appears in this issue. It was unintentionally left out of last Tuesday's paper.

The third quarterly meeting for the year will be held at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. There will also be a communion service at the same time.

The books for subscription of stock in the 9th series of the Hopkinsville Building and Loan Association will be open on April 1st. Apply at office of Long, Garrett & Co.

Thos. W. Long, Treas.

Mr. Geo. Knight is still postmaster at Orgasette. He says that if his commission has been revoked or the office changed to Herndon, (as we announced upon the authority of a gentleman living at Herndon) that he has not been so notified.

Prof. J. W. Starr appointed by the Baptist Executive Board to assist in the organization of the circle and Sunday school work, is invited to make an address at West Mt. Zion, at 10 o'clock A. M., the second Sunday in April.

Hon. Wilbur F. Browder, of Russellville is to deliver the Annual Literary Address before Bethel Female College at the next commencement, and Rev. Dr. C. H. Strickland is to preach the sermon. Two better selections could not have been easily made.

The Anchor Brand Fertilizer sales this year are ahead of expectations, which goes to prove that the farmers who used it last year were more than pleased with its productive qualities. Messrs. Williams & Co., handle this brand, and they will take pleasure in satisfying you of its many good qualities.

Mr. G. G. Reeder and Miss Mattie Foster were married at Concord church, 2½ miles north of this city Wednesday evening, Rev. J. T. Barrow officiating. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Reeder and his bride came to the city and occupied a cottage on High Street, where they will keep house.

Mr. Henry C. Wheeler, a German, who owned a farm on the Russellville road, close to the Asylum, left last Tuesday with his family for Paducah, Ky., to carry on farming there where he expects to find a better market. He took along in a whole car all his furniture, household goods, farming implements and stock. Over two years ago he moved here from Racine county, Wis., and had acquired and was enjoying here the highest respect and esteem of all for his industry and integrity.

A good many of the houses in the city have not yet been numbered. If the city were properly canvassed there would be a very few persons found who would not pay a quarter for a house-number. Why don't some of the local painters put the thing and finish the work begun by the gentlemen from Evansville? It can't be possible that all of the enterprising people in the city have already put up numbers and that every other house in the city is occupied by an old fogey.

The "Horse Shoe Brand" Tobacco Grower stands without a rival as to quality, price and mechanical condition. It furnishes food for the plant from the beginning of the crop to its maturity. It makes tobacco that cures easy and uniformly. No spotting. It largely increases the yield. The color and texture just right, and always bring the top market price. Our best farmers know these facts and are buying this brand in preference to any other.

Jno. R. Green & Co.

A little colored girl who lives at Dr. B. S. Wood's got a grain of corn in her ear last Tuesday. She tried to see if she could put it in her ear and get it out of her mouth. She found that she could not succeed in the experiment and came running down in town, screaming at every jump, in search of a doctor to get it out. Dr. Sargent and Dr. Bell put her to sleep and removed the grain, which was a very large one, and she will not be apt to try a similar experiment soon.

CALDWELL ACQUITTED.

No Case Made Out Against Him.

The case of W. W. Caldwell, charged with the murder of Green Stevens, was called Wednesday morning and speedily disposed of.

The killing took place in what is known as Wilcat Hollow, in Stuart's District, 16 miles north of this city, on the 24th of Dec., 1885. The following jury was empaneled, only five of the panel called in regular order being objected to:

THE JURY.
 Leo Watson, P. A. Cushman, Jno. A. Browning, Wm. Johnson, Jno. W. Hanberry, Jno. H. White, D. J. McCord, John Boxley, R. S. Gary, J. J. Salmon, W. L. Cannon, G. W. Clark. Messrs. Landes & Clark appeared for Caldwell, who is a big stout look- ing Irishman about 40 years old.

THE PROSECUTION.
 B. F. CASON:—Stevens and I had been to a turkey shooting at Hunter & Wilson's store the day of the killing and as we came back by Caldwell's house, Stevens stopped and went in. He had some words with Caldwell about a woman who had been moved to his house with a man named F. M. Dukes. Stevens in a little while came out of the house and Caldwell followed. Stevens came to where I was on a horse and jerked a gun and powder horn that I had and began to fix to load the gun. Caldwell came up and struck him in the neck with a pick and as the blood spurted out Stevens walked a few steps to an ash-hopper. He lived only a few minutes. Caldwell lived in an open place in the woods. No fence around the house. A man named Higginbotham moved the woman to Caldwell's with Dukes Sunday before the killing.

Cross-Examined: Caldwell said he and Dukes were going to get out staves together and the woman was going to cook and take care of his little boy, as his wife had left him. The woman's name was Mary Rice. She had a bad character. Claimed to be Dukes' wife. Stevens told Dukes he must take the woman away. Caldwell got up and he told him if he tried to take it up he would cut him with a knife he had in his hand. Stevens then came out of the house as stated above. Caldwell's wife is now at Frank Pennington's. Stevens had a wife and three children. Caldwell had no gun.

DR. G. W. RIVES: Testified that the wound killed Stevens.

J. N. STINNETT: Knew both parties. Heard Caldwell say on Dec. 22, that Stevens had mistreated him at a shooting and that he would be revenged. Think the mistreatment was that Stevens put a tow law in Caldwell's gun when he went to shoot. Several others heard the statement.

This closed the case. The defense introduced no witnesses and the instructions of the court were given verbally. No speeches were made and the jury after being out only about five minutes returned a verdict of not guilty.

Mr. R. G. Hopkins, of Pembroke, has just received his thoroughbred stock from Central Kentucky. Mr. Hopkins is one of our most enterprising farmers, and his efforts to introduce none but the best stock will doubtless be appreciated.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

(By Glover & Durrett.)

The market this week for dark tobacco has been lower than at any time during the year. The mild weather has been unfavorable for tobacco put up in soft condition, and prices have been very disastrous for such. Extra long tobacco and tobacco in good condition has been fairly sustained at former prices, but we find it necessary to lower quotations on all other classes. Sales for the week 3046 hds. sales for the year 32,350 hds. The following quotations represent our market for new dark tobacco:

Trash $1.50 to 2.00.
 Common to medium lugs $2.00 to 2.60.
 Good lugs $2.50 to 4.00.
 Common to medium leaf $3.50 to 5.00.
 Good to Fine leaf $5.50 to 7.00.
 Leaf of extra length $7.00 to 8.00.
 Wrappery leaf $8.00 to 10.00.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I take this mode of informing persons owing the old firm of Metcalfe, Graham & Co., that there is an obligation resting upon me to settle up the business. I would dislike to see anyone but it is not business to let these accounts run any longer and consequently I am forced to make this statement—viz: that I will wait until the present tobacco crop now ready for market, is sold, after that all the accounts and notes due and unsettled will be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection.

W. J. GRAHAM.

Nobby line of Men's Hats just received at M. Frankel & Sons.
